Object: Powder coatings prices increase

Dear Customer,

as you may have seen, all the raw materials are in great tension. As regards powder coatings, due to the cost increase of the main monomer NPG (neopentilglycol) there has been a significant price increase of polyester resin, at the same way there has been a relevant increase in epoxy resins caused by the shortage of product on the world market, not less important also the Titanium dioxide has been growing up strongly.

Our suppliers have already raised the prices of the above mentioned raw materials, despite our best efforts to contain the costs, we will be forced to rise the prices of powder coatings.

At the beginning of January, we will notify the increase value and the prices increase starting date.

In reconfirming us available for all your needs, we send our best regards.
